DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-6, 11, and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Feng (US 6,517,093 B2).

Feng discloses a cambering vehicle 12 comprising a front column 13 including a front tube, stem, and steering shaft, a front wheel 14, a handle (not numbered), bracket assembly 10 with a pair of frames 18 each with pivot shaft 35, socket openings (not numbered), trailing arms 15 each with a pivot axle 17 with bushings (not numbered), wheel 16, a foot pedal (not numbered), brake means (not numbered), and a latching means 40 for locking the bracket in a folded or working position relative to said column, as shown in figures 1-10.

With respect to claim 3, the pivot axles of the trailing arms are inclined relative to a longitudinal axis of the brackets, as shown in figure 3.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 7-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Feng, as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Ming-Fu (US 6,485,039 B1).

Feng does not disclose a link between the trailing arms. Ming-Fu discloses a cambering vehicle comprising a front column 12, first and second pivot axles 34,36, a pair of trailing arms 14,16 each with a wheel 32, and a link 88 extending between ears 86,92 of said arms, wherein said ears include apertures and removable latch pin 94 and pivot pin (not numbered) and allow the link to rotated and engage the opposite ear for locking, as shown in figures 1, 2, and 6 and recited in column 2, lines 60-64. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have provided the cambering vehicle of Feng with the locking link of Ming-Fu in order to lock the trailing arms together for storage.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 13-15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Walter, Moludy, Rappaport, Feng, and Lin disclose scooters of interest.
